HERE'S WHAT'S WANTED

A Citizen of Honolulu Supplies the Information.

Over half the complaints of mankind originate with the kidneys.

A slight touch of bacache at first. Twinges and shooting pains in the loins follow. They must be checked, they lead to graver complications.

The sufferer seeks relief. So-called kidney cures which do not cure.

Plasters are tried and liniments for cure.

The long looked for result seems unattainable.

If you suffer, do you want relief? Follow the plan adopted by this gentleman.

Mr. S. Hanolani, of this city, is a Custom House guard. He writes: "Having been afflicted with an aching back for some time, I procured a supply of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills at Hollister & Co.'s store, and used them. The results were most satisfactory and I know that the pills are a valuable medicine for kidney complaints and especially for a lame back."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box (six boxes $2.50) or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Ltd., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

HANGED HIMSELF WHILE INTOXICATED

The Japanese who committed suicide on Sunday afternoon by hanging himself to a rafter of the house in which he was living, was a peddler of carved wooden trays and powder boxes. His handiwork was artistic and he appeared to sell his wares readily.

On Sunday the man came to a house in Manoa to receive the remainder of some money due him on a sale of goods. The man was there at 11 a. m., and seemed anxious to get his money, for after a brief salaam, he hurried down the hill. Shortly afterward he is said to have bought a large quantity of gin and whiskey upon which he proceeded to get drunk. It was while in this condition that he hanged himself.

Upon one occasion when "Tom" Taggart, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, was distributor of the spoils, there was much speculation as to who would be the coroner of Marion county, Ind. There were plenty of doctors who were anxious for the job, but only one of them, a dapper young physician, had the nerve to ask Taggart about it. "Mr. Taggart," he said, "I have come all the way down to your office to ask whom you favor for the nomination for coroner. I do not like to go ahead without knowing where I stand." Taggart slapped him on the back, and smiled in his most winsome manner. "I'll tell you one thing," he said, "you are no worse off than you were."

POLICE METHODS ARE LAID IN THE BALANCE

Judge Gear Has Important Ruling to Make This Morning on Question of Enforcing the Liquor Laws.

An important ruling is expected from Judge Gear this morning. It involves the legality of police methods long in vogue in the Hawaiian Islands for the suppression of illicit liquor selling. The question arose late yesterday afternoon in the trial of A. F. Franca for selling liquor without a license at the Halfway House, Nuuanu Pali road.

Harry W. Flint, a police officer, was the first witness called. His testimony regarding a seizure he made of a quantity of liquor directly after the alleged sale was, on the objection of J. J. Dunne for the defendant, ordered struck out as "irrelevant and intended to prejudice the minds of the jury."

A basket containing bottles, some opened and partly empty and others sealed and full, was on the floor beside the chair of M. F. Prosser, Deputy Attorney General. Most of it was beer, but there was some red liquor and square-face gin. Under the ruling it all became dead stock as evidence.

Officer Flint testified that he rode up the valley in a hack, for which the Government paid, taking with him in the vehicle a man named Fisher, and another. They walked part of the way to the place. Witness gave Fisher money with which he bought beer from Franca, part of which witness himself drank.

Mr. Dunne objected to the question if beer was an intoxicating drink, contending that defendant was charged with selling "spirituous liquors," and it was not competent for the witness to say whether beer was either spirituous liquor or intoxicating. Mr. Prosser quoted the statute that gives beer among the definitions of spirituous liquor for the purposes of the enactment. Mr. Dunne then dropped the objection but, after a few of his cross questions were answered, he moved that all of the testimony of the witness be struck out, on this ground:

"That it is against public policy to allow testimony of this kind to be used for the conviction of any man."

Though Mr. Dunne said he would only occupy a few minutes with his authorities, Mr. Prosser insisted on the exhorting of the jury during the argument. The court accordingly excused the jury, who retired to the corridors.

Mr. Dunne quoted Michigan, Colorado and California cases in support of his motion. For the first-named the author was no less than Judge Cooley. The present case was, like those quoted, one in which the police assisted in the commission of crime. One of the authorities cited held that the method in question was "wholly opposed to every idea of decency in the administration of justice."

He did not know if the Supreme Court of Hawaii had ever passed on that question. It might have settled the status of informers, who merely watched for offenses, but he did not think the Supreme Court had dealt with a case like this, where the police had built up an offense. According to Judge Cooley, the duty of the police in this case would have been to go up and warn Franca that he was suspected of breaking the law and would be pursued if he did not desist from selling liquor.

Mr. Prosser replied tersely that it was just as illegal for one without a license to sell liquor to a policeman as to anybody else. The testimony of Flint was therefore not incompetent and there was no effort to show that it was untrue. The law made no distinction between persons to whom liquor could or could not be sold.

"How are such offenses to be found out?" Judge Gear asked of defendant's counsel.

"I would refer that question to the ingenuity of the police," Mr. Dunne answered and went on again throwing Michigan, Colorado and California at the court. Judge Gear remarked that the practice in question had always existed here, to which Mr. Dunne replied that it was time such a practice was done away with in the interests of a decent administration of justice.

Mr. Prosser asked what about the Japanese conspiracy cases before the Federal court.

Mr. Dunne (who is Assistant U. S. Attorney) answered that he was not in those cases and that he did not approve of the tactics employed.

Judge Gear referred to the case of attempted bribery of officials detected in the Attorney General's office through laying a trap, asking:

"Do you mean to say that the officer on that occasion ought not to have gone into the Attorney General's office with the briber?"

Mr. Prosser about this stage expressed surprise at the Assistant Attorney General of the United States trying to obstruct evidence of a violation of both Federal and Territorial law.

Mr. Dunne denied the Federal law part of it, saying, "He has a United States license." Counsel went on to say that the Territorial offense would never have been committed if it had not been for the trap the police laid.

Mr. Prosser declared that the defendant was suspected for many months of being engaged in the unlawful business, and the trap was laid simply to obtain evidence for his conviction.

"Will this court," Mr. Prosser asked with emphasis, "allow evidence to be stricken from the record in which a reputable witness states on his oath that a law of this Territory has been violated?"

"Call in the jury," the court ordered. Then: "Gentlemen, you are excused until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. This case is continued until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Bail off, adjourn court till tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock."

MANSION HOUSE REVERTS TO COOPER

The Manoa property which has been in the possession recently of the Island Realty Company, Ltd., and J. A. Gilman, and by them lost to Henry E. Cooper in Circuit Court proceedings, was sold yesterday at noon at auction by J. F. Morgan in front of the Judiciary building. There were but two bidders, Henry E. Cooper being one of them. Mr. Cooper started bidding at $30,000 and bids thereafter went by $5,000 jumps to $60,000 when the property was knocked down to Mr. Cooper.

The sale was pursuant to an order of the court filed August 24. The property includes the mansion which was erected several years ago by Mr. Cooper on a commanding hill. Part of the premises are now used by the Manoa Golf Club.

GREAT CURTAIN SALE

33 1-3 PER CENT
REDUCTION.

There is a world of truth in the dictum attributed to Gladstone that nothing except the MINT can make money without advertising.

All the same, some folks may imagine that advertising is an expense which must be borne by customers.

But no inference could be more fallacious.

Paradoxical though it be, we would be unable to sell at our well-known close margins were it not for the large sums we spend in publicity.

In other words, liberal advertising begets large sales, and large sales admit of SMALL PROFITS.

This CURTAIN SALE is not advertised to make money.

OUR OBJECT IS to clean up and close out our present stock of CURTAINS if a GENUINE REDUCTION of 33 1-3 PER CENT will do it.
